

Raising a family can be challenging, and knowing where to find help is not always easy.

Our Support and Response Unit is here to help.

Whether coping with issues at school or at home, the Support and Response Unit (SRU) can assist you with the resources to meet the needs of your family.

An SRU team member will connect you with local service providers to help you build a stronger, brighter future for your family. All families who need support are encouraged to reach out for information or referrals to these voluntary services.

We help families

- With emotional or behavioral health challenges
- With youth who are involved in risky or disobedient behavior
- Who have difficulties communicating or getting along
- Who have been impacted financially and are struggling with housing or basic needs
- Who feel overwhelmed and stressed

Get help with

- Parenting support
- Counseling
- Educational issues
- Finding housing
- Substance abuse treatment
- Securing basic needs
- Employment and training
- Domestic violence response
- Stabilizing crisis situations
- Accessing services
- Making choices
- Advocating for your child's needs

We welcome your call!
1-888-RI-Family or 1-888-743-2659

Rhode Island Department of Children, Youth & Families